

WORKSHOP I CREDIBLE DETERRENCE

Anthony Pygram

Partner for Enforcement and Competition Policy, Ofgem

Anthony Pygram is Partner for Enforcement and Competition Policy at Ofgem. In this role he is accountable for the delivery of a portfolio of investigations into possible breaches of license conditions and various legislative requirements. Anthony is also responsible for Ofgem's work on the competition policy framework, and Ofgem's contribution to the UK Regulators' Network (UKRN).

Prior to joining Ofgem Anthony worked as an Inquiry Director and as Director of Policy at the Competition Commission (now part of the Competition and Markets Authority). Whilst there Anthony led investigations into payment protection insurance and whether BAA should be required to sell Stansted Airport. He has also held several posts at the old Department of Trade and Industry, and worked as a postdoctoral researcher in ceramics, in product development of microporous materials, and in the nuclear industry.
